About us

We are the office of the Public Services Ombudsman for Wales.

We have 3 main jobs:

- We look into complaints about public services in Wales.

Public services are services paid for by the Government. For example, local councils, the NHS, social landlords.

- We look into complaints about local councillors breaking the code of conduct. Local councillors are people chosen to run a council.

Code of conduct means the rules and standards someone must follow in their job.

- We help public services and councils do better.

Our principles

We are independent.

We are independent. This means we are not controlled by the government.

We are fair.

We do not take sides. We look at the facts and make decisions.

We are open to everyone.

Our service is free. We make it easy for anyone to use.

We put people first.

We know complaints can be stressful. Everyone who contacts us should feel respected, listened to, and understood.

What this Plan is about

We are making a new Strategic Plan for 2026 to 2029.

This is a plan for what we need to do to improve our services.

This will help us do better for:

- People.

- Public services.

- Local democracy in Wales. This means people can have a say in how their local area is run.

This is a draft strategy. This means it is not the final version.

We want to know what you think about our Strategic Plan for 2026 to 2029.

We would like to hear views from:

- People who have used our service or made a complaint.
- Service providers and their staff.
- Advocates and charities.
- Elected representatives.
- Anyone interested in our work or the ombudsman sector.

Things we want to focus on

Our staff and advisers helped us see the main things we need to focus on.

Showing our impact:

We want to show how our work makes a difference. Some results take time, but we will do better at measuring and sharing them.

Handling more complaints:

More people are using our service. This is good, but it also puts pressure on staff and resources. We will manage this carefully.

Improving public services:

We help services improve through training and investigations. Investigation means looking more deeply into what happened.

Making our service easy to use:

Everyone should be able to use our service. We will work to make it easier, especially for people who find it hard to be heard.

Using our data:

We will use our information better to work smarter and improve our services.

Using technology and AI:

New technology can help us work better. We will use it responsibly and focus on what people need. AI stands for Artificial Intelligence. It is a type of technology.

Making our organisation strong:

We want our staff to stay happy and supported. We will work smarter, improve processes, and stay flexible. While keeping high standards.

Our main goals

We want:

- Everyone in Wales to be treated fairly by public services.

- Public services to listen, learn and do better when things go wrong.

- Councils in Wales to do the right thing, so people can trust them.

- People to see us as fair and helpful.

Our aims for 2026 to 2029

Aim 1: Fair outcomes for people in Wales

We provide a caring and well run service. People feel listened to and understood.

Our decisions are fair and effective.

What we want:

- We handle complaints faster.

- People who complain feel heard and understand our decisions.

- Organisations follow our recommendations on time.

Recommendation means saying what actions need to be taken to solve a problem.

To make this happen, we will:

- Use digital tools to make our service easier to access.

- Work in new, flexible ways to resolve complaints quickly.

- Improve our service so more people feel listened to and understood.

- Review recommendations to make them clearer and more effective.

- Check that organisations follow our recommendations.

- Help people understand how we make our decisions.

- Focus on serious complaints about the Code of Conduct when needed.

Aim 2: Improve public services and standards

We help public services improve. We share good practice and lessons learned.

We support high standards of behaviour for councillors.

What we want:

- Organisations find our complaint guidance helps them improve.

- People say making a complaint is easy.

- Our work leads to positive changes in public services.

- Our Code of Conduct work promotes high standards in public life.

To make this happen, we will:

- Include more organisations in our Complaints Standards.

- Do more own-initiative investigations and involve key people. Own-initiative investigations are investigations that we do without a complaint.

- Find better ways to show the impact of our work.

- Improve how we share our work with the media.

- Make resources to help local government members understand their duties and our role.

Aim 3: Good outcomes for people who need us most

We make our service easier to access.

We promote our service to people who need help most.

What we want:

- More people can easily contact us.

- More people know about our office.

- We can take more complaints in different languages. People can use our oral complaints process. This is complaint made by speaking instead of writing it down.

- More people use Welsh with us.

- Senedd members and staff understand our work.

- Organisations that can help direct people to us know more about our work and tell us what problems people may be facing.

To make this happen, we will:

- Make our service easy to use for everyone.

- Improve oral complaints and use new technology.

- Reach groups who are hard to contact.

- See how we can encourage people to use Welsh when they contact us.

- Develop training resources to help advice organisations and constituency offices.

- Work with organisations to understand issues affecting users, especially vulnerable groups.

- Look at including school complaints in our work.

Aim 4: Be a strong and well-run organisation

We use our staff, money, and systems well.

We work in an open and honest way.

What we want:

- Our staff stay skilled, strong, and included.

- We work in flexible ways.

- We manage money responsibly and carefully.

- We use data, technology, digital tools, and AI to improve our work.

- Our systems are secure and reliable.

To make this happen, we will:

- Help our staff stay flexible, strong, and perform well.

- Make our processes simpler and respond quickly to challenges.

- Manage resources efficiently.

- Use data to make better decisions and work smarter.

- Use technology carefully to improve services for people.

- Keep systems secure and protect data.

- Continue to protect the environment and reduce our impact on the environment.

Next steps

Each year we will make a Business Plan with detailed actions.

It will show who we will reach and how we will measure our work.

We will share our priorities and our action plan each year.

Hard words
